

Siththarth & Pirathith Duo

We are extremely fortunate to have Siththarth & Pirathith duo playing nadhaswaram at Kundrathu Kumaran Temple Annual Festival. They will be in Melbourne until 17th March.

Kundrathu Kumaran Temple is also organising a Musical Evening Naatha Innesai Sangamam - நாத இன்னிசை சங்கமம் - (கென்ஜித் கச்சேரி) on Sunday, 15 March 2020 where the duo will play.

Siththarth & Pirathith duo hails from a family of music (nadhaswaram players). The ancient and traditional art of Nadhaswaram playing had been preserved and fostered by their ancestors; including their grandfather Dr K. M. Panchabikesan, father nadeswara viduvan Sri Vigneswaran and uncle nadeswara viduvan Sri Nagendran who played Nadhaswaram at Kundrathu Kumaran Temple Kumbabhishekam and at Ratham inauguration.

Dr K. M. Panchabikesan is one of the most prominent nadhaswaram players to hail from Sri Lanka.

Siththarth & Pirathith duo are the next generation shining stars in nadhaswaram in Sri Lanka, and we are extremely proud to introduce them to Melbourne. They have already won many accolades and have numerous awards to their credit. They are performing in Australia for the first time now, but we will no doubt see them performing in Australia in future.

You can also view many of their concerts in YouTube.
